LOESCHE proudly announces the release of its second sustainability report, detailing the company's strides towards environmental, social, and governance (ESG) excellence throughout the calendar year 2022. This report not only highlights LOESCHE's internal sustainability strategies but also underscores the pivotal role of its innovative products and services in aiding customers' sustainability endeavors.

At the core of LOESCHE's ethos lies a steadfast dedication to enhancing process efficiency and minimizing consumption across all industrial facilities.

Rüdiger Zerbe, the Managing Director of LOESCHE, emphasizes this commitment, stating, "LOESCHE has consistently prioritized enhancing process efficiency and minimizing consumption across all our industrial plants. Our product portfolio shows our dedication to pioneering research and development. There's a need to synchronize our innovative drive with the sustainable evolution of our industries, especially in today's context."

Looking ahead, LOESCHE is poised to incessantly evaluate key ESG criteria and expand the formulated sustainability strategies to encompass all global LOESCHE Group entities. This commitment to transparency will be upheld through the annual
